

THE ASSEMBLY
STATE OF NEW YORK

THE NEW YORK
STATE SENATE

1 June 2015

The Hon. Andrew Cuomo, Governor
State of New York
Executive Chamber
Albany, New York 12224

Dear Governor Cuomo:

We are writing to express our support for a fully-funded, statewide transit capital program, that would cover both the Metropolitan Transportation Authority's (MTA) five-year (2015-2019) capital program at $32 billion, as well as a $1 billion program for suburban and upstate transit systems.

While this proposed statewide capital program represents a significant number, it still falls far short of what is generally acknowledged by the comptroller and other transportation experts as what is needed to keep New York's most valuable economic asset—its unparalleled $1 trillion transit system—in a state of good repair and to continue modest expansion. It also must be considered in the context of its broader value to the economic health of its service regions with more than 14 million people, seven million workers and one that generates $1.4 trillion in GDP. Moreover, maintaining transit systems across the state contributes significantly to the upstate economy, given the number of suppliers and value-added services that exist in upstate New York to support the transit capital plans.

The MTA's daily ridership of 8.6 million has reached a 65-year all time high and is putting significant strain on the system. The Lexington Avenue subway alone carries 1.3 million people a day, exceeding the ridership of San Francisco, Chicago and Boston combined. The pressure on the MTA's physical assets to serve this increasing ridership is starting to show, with equipment- and facility-related train delays on the rise. Between October 2013 and October 2014, nearly 25% of all subway trains were late. Metro-North and Long Island Rail Road have similarly struggled in managing their aging assets.

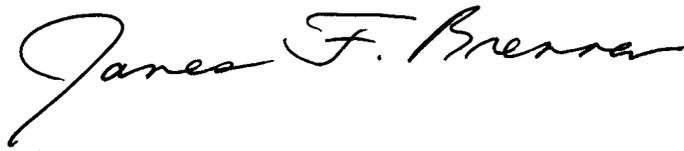

A fully-funded, five-year statewide capital plan will have far reaching impacts for the entire New York metropolitan and upstate regions, regardless of which borough or county one calls home. It will fund the purchase of modern buses, subway cars and commuter rail cars; the installation of computerized signals to increase capacity and reduce crowding; safety measures such as new subway track to prevent derailments and Positive Train Control to keep commuter rail passengers safe; and rider information like countdown clocks and "Bus Time" technology that will help bring New York's largely outdated system into the 21st Century and closer to on par with the world's other leading cities.

ALBANY, NEW YORK

Our transit agencies have experienced a decrease in federal, state, and local monies for far too long. If new sources of funding are not identified soon, agencies will be forced to raise fares and tolls or reduce service to pay for much-needed infrastructure needs—taking more money from the pockets of millions of daily riders, many of whom have no other transportation options. Viable funding options exist to support these initiatives, and the time is now to take action.

We look forward to working with you and our colleagues in both legislative houses to tackle this important issue and make a commitment to fully-fund a Statewide Transit Capital Plan during this 2015 legislative session.

Sincerely,

James F. Brennan
